FIRST EDITION.

Tuesday's Elections.

THE RESULT IN OHIO.

Official Majorities in Sixty Counties.

Both Branches of the Legislature Republican.

The Result in Iowa and Nebraska.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
COLUMBUS, O., October 13. Midnight.

During the day and evening returns have been received from sixty out of the eighty-eight counties in the State. From these returns the Republicans argue a majority of 7,500 for Hayes and their State ticket, at the same time claiming that the remaining twenty-eight counties will not materially affect the result. They regard their victory as a decisive one, showing what they have claimed all along, that Ohio was always a Republican State, and only needed the incentive of some great issue or great danger to bring that vote to the front. They are very jubilant over the result in Cleveland and Cincinnati, both of which are now fairly entitled to rank as Republican cities. The Legislature will, doubtless, be Republican. A close calculator, who has watched the returns as they come in, thus figures out its political complexion: House, Republicans 58, Democrats 49 doubtful four. Senate, Republicans 18, Democrats 15, doubtful four. This is on the supposition that Hamilton county has elected the entire Republican ticket. Should one or two Democrats creep into their delegation, the result may be different. At the Democratic headquarters they are slow to give up, though to-night they concide Hayes' election by a majority of 2,500. They have been making their calculations industriously all afternoon, and not until the returns from Cleveland came in would they give up the State.

The Democracy Concede the State by 15,000.

COLUMBUS, O., October 13.—The Democrats concede the State to the Republicans by fifteen thousand, and a fair majority in both branches of the General Assembly.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, October 13.—A most remarkable change in the political feeling has occurred this evening. At noon the Democrats conceded the State to the Republicans by from 10,000 to 15,000, but this afternoon they received private advices which considerably changed their figures, steadily cutting down Hayes' prospective majority. This evening the Democratic committee closed their headquarters to outsiders, and have since been figuring on the result, and now claim that Hayes, if elected at all, will not have over 2,500 majority. This result, the committee claim, is reached from figures received from their private correspondents in fifty-three counties and thirty-five counties to hear from. Thompson, Democratic Chairman, says they yet hope to prove Allen's election by a small majority. This news has spread like wildfire, and men who were confident to-day and jubilant over having won considerable sums of money on Hayes' election now fill the Republican committee rooms, anxiously inquiring for news. A. T. Wykoff, Chairman of the Republican committe, admits that his news of this afternoon will cut down Hayes' prospective majority, but claims that he has no news at all in keeping with the news at the Democratic rooms. He declares that he cannot see how it is possible to overcome Hayes' majority. Republican figures give the Republicans nine majority in the House, not counting four considered doubtful, and three majority in the Senate, with four members yet in doubt.

LATER—A revision of the Republican figures gives Hayes a net gain of 8,431 in fifty-six counties. On the other hand the Democratic figures claim that Hayes will not have over 2,000 majority.

COLUMBUS, O., October 14, 1 A. M.—Additional returns do not materially change the result on Governor. The following sharp correspondence is a portion of the election amenities of the Ohio campaign. The Democratic State Executive Committee to-day sent the following dispatch:

COLUMBUS, October 13, 1875.

To Hon. Hendricks B. Wright, Chairman State Democratic Committee, Philadelphia:

The State has gone for Hayes by a small majority. The returns indicate that the Democracy polled a vote thirty thousand larger than was ever cast for any man elected Governor of Ohio. Our defeat was the result of the most lavish expenditure of money which ever characterized a political contest, the colonization of fraudulent votes, and the introduction of the false issue on the public schools, which excited the prejudice and bigotry of religious hate.

[Signed.] JOHN G. THOMPSON,
Democratic Executive Committee.

The Republican Committee, to show the other side of the question, to-night send the following dispatch:

COLUMBUS, O., October 13, 1875. To Hon. Henry M. Hoyt, Chairman Republican State Committee, Philadelphia: The dispatch of John G. Thompson, Chairman of the Ohio Democratic Committee, of this date, to the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Democratic Committee, so far as it relates to frauds perpetrated and lavish expenditure of money by the Republicans of this State, is a falsehood, and he knew it when he signed it.

[Signed] A. T. WYKOFF,
Chairman.
J. C. DONALDSON,
Secretary.
GEO. K. NASH,
Treasurer.
CHAS. C. WALCUTT.
CHAS. MOORE,
JOHN LITTLE,
Republican State Executive Committee.

CLEVELAND, October 14.—Full returns from Cuyahoga county give Hayes a majority of 6,364, a gain over 1873 of 3,763. The entire Republican county ticket is elected. The Republicans are jubilant. A salute was fired to-night over the favorable returns.

Both branches of the State Legislature are conceded to be Republican.

COLUMBUS, October 13—1 have just called on J. G. Thompson, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, and learn that he has returns from sixty-six counties and estimates of the other twenty-two. This includes returns of 6,000 Republican majority in Cuyahoga and 1,100 in Hamilton. He regards both these returns as too large, but, taking them for granted to be true, says it cannot give Hayes more than 2,500 majority. Wykoff, of the Republican committee, says he has yet to hear from fourteen counties considered Republican and ten Democratic, and so is unable to give definite figures. The returns from fifty-seven counties now in show a net Republican gain of 7,768.

DAYTON, O., October 13.—Montgomery, complete, gives Allen 822 majority, and Cary 579. One Republican and two Democrats are elected Representatives. The Democratic Senator in the district is elected. The Soldiers' Home polled 1,200 votes, giving Allen a majority.

CINCINNATI, October 13.—Revised figures on the vote of Hamilton County give Hayes 24,498, Allen 24,049. Republican majority, 449.

IOWA.

NO CAUSE YET TO LOWER THE ESTIMATE OF REPUBLICAN MAJORITY.

DES MOINES, IOWA, October 13.—The official vote in this (Polk) county gives a Republican majority of 898. The Republican county ticket is elected, with one exception, by majorities ranging from 679 for Sheriff to 1,281 for Auditor. The Democrats have elected the Treasurer by 373 majority.

Special dispatches received by the State Register, up to this hour, do not change materially the estimate made by the Register from the dispatches at two o'clock this morning. The fuller and later dispatches confirm the estimate made then of thirty-two thousand Republican majority on the State ticket, and about thirty Republican majority on joint ballot in the Legislature.

DUBUQUE, IOWA, October 13.—The Democratic majority in this county is about 1,500. The Republicans elect two out of three members to the Legislature, possibly all three.

Specials to the Dubuque Times show the Republican majority has been considerably increased all over the State. The majority for Kirkwood will, it is believed, reach 35,000, with a strong majority in the General Assembly. The Democratic local ticket here is beaten. The Republicans and people are victorious.

DES MOINES, IA., October 13.—Up to this hour, 11 P. M., the State Register has special dispatches giving complete reports from sixty-one of the hundred counties of the State. Of these fifty-three give Republican majorities aggregating 5,002. These counties represent three-fourths of the State, and the returns from them indicate a Republican gain over 1874 of three hundred. The counties not heard from are mostly in the northwestern part of the State, the strongest Republican counties in the State. The Register intimates that this will make the total Republican majority in the State 33,000, a gain of a little over 5,000. The Register's specials up to this hour show a Republican gain of two in the Senate, and in the House a loss of five. This, with the others to come in will make the House stand seventy-five Republicans to twenty-five Democrats. The Senate will stand forty Republicans to ten Democrats.

DUBUQUE, IOWA, October 13.—Specials to the Dubuque Times from nearly all the counties in Northern and Central Iowa show considerable Republican gains for Kirkwood over the majorities of last year, when the Republican candidate for Secretary of State had 29,000 majority. This would indicate his election by from 35,000 to 40,000. The Legislature will be much more strongly Republican than two years ago, insuring the election of a Republican United States Senator in place of Senator Wright. In Northern Iowa the Republicans probably lose a Senator in Clayton county, but will probably gain one in Jackson. They gain one Representative in Linn, three in Dubuque, two in Jones, one in Winneshick, one in Clinton and one in Chickasaw. In this county the Republicans will have a clear Republican representation in the Legislature for the first time in its history, having, it is now believed, elected all the members.

NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, October 13.—Completed returns come in very slowly. Enough, however, is known that the estimated Republican majority, 10,000, is none too high. Douglass goes strongly Republican, except in the case of Sheriff, where the Republican candidate is elected by only sixteen votes, and Col. James W. Savage, Democrat, for District Judge, whose majority is 421. The new Constitution has doubtless carried by a very large majority. It is not expected that anything like a complete statement can be rendered before Saturday.

FAILURE OF A DRY GOODS FIRM.

The dry goods house of Strauss, Lehmann & Co., 82 Leonard street, suspended to-day, and made a general assignment to Morris Tuska. The cause of their failure is said to be the shrinkage in values added to the present business depression. Inability to meet a note due in London today was the immediate cause of their suspension.

Reception of the News from Ohio.

The Democracy Badly Discouraged.

A Grand Triumph Expected in Pennsylvania.

The Opposition Hopelessly Divided.

General Negley and the Witkowski Fraud.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
WASHINGTON, D. C., October 13, 1875.

The Democracy Discouraged.

The glorious triumph in Ohio has been the cause of much congratulation among Republicans in all circles to-day. Whatever doubts may have been entertained as to Pennsylvania are now effectually dissipated, and the old Keystone is now looked to give a majority double that of Ohio. The disappointed Democracy admit that the prospect ahead of them is very blue, and the leaders here fear that irreconcilable divisions between the Eastern and Western Democracy are likely to ensue. A Cabinet officer said to-day that when Pennsylvania followed Ohio, as it was certain to do, it would be the destruction of Democratic hopes for the next year.

It is thought here that Sam Randall may now be counted out on the Speakership.

Gen. Negley

was in town to-day, and had an interview with the Secretary of the Treasury in reference to the recent allegations made against him in connection with the fraudulent Witkowski claim. Gen. Negley states that the part taken by him in the matter was to request the Treasury officials to examine the papers in the claim and act upon it. Secretary Bristow assured Gen. Negley that the report that he had ordered criminal proceedings to be instituted against him was untrue.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

Convention of General Managers and Superintendents.

CHICAGO, October 13.—The second annual Time Table Convention of General Managers and Superintendents of Railroads in the United States and Canadas was held here to-day, nearly all the roads being represented. The committee appointed to make a schedule recommended that the schedules of last winter be adopted again, with a few alterations. This suggestion was unanimously concurred in by the convention. The tables go into operation November 21st. The next meeting will be held at Cincinnati on the second Wednesday in April. By the action of convention no road will be allowed to run passenger trains at a faster rate of speed than that laid down in the schedule. Nothing was done concerning the fast mail train.

The special committee of thirteen appointed by the late Saratoga convention met this evening to arrange general passenger rates, but could come to no agreement, and adjourned to meet in Philadelphia upon the call of the chairman of the convention.

LONDON, October 13.—The Admiralty minute which was promulgated yesterday has called forth much criticism by the London press. The Daily News and Telegraph also have editorial articles on the subject, and condemn the minute. Judge Boreman Charges the Grand Jury in Opposition to Polygamy.

SALT LAKE, October 13.—In the District Court to-day, Judge Boreman delivered a strong charge to the Grand Jury in opposition to polygamy or bigamy, and in regard to enforcing the law of Congress of 1862, punishing the offense, he stated that it had never been respected, and every means had been used to prevent its enforcement; that the leaders of the people, while teaching this crime, repudiated it themselves when brought into the court room; that as there is no statute in the Territory in regard to marriage, no ceremony is required, and none need be proved, and called upon the jurymen to indict all persons known to be living in polygamy; that it depends on the grand juries whether the laws shall be enforced or not, or whether Congress shall be called on to give us better laws.

WHENCE THESE TEARS?

Outburst of Popular Indignation in New Orleans Over an Attack on a Party of Colored Men.

NEW ORLEANS, October 13.—This community was shocked this morning to learn that a party of colored men had been attacked late last night, one killed outright, another mortally wounded and a third receiving slight injuries. Two white men charged with the crime have been arrested and are in jail. Citizens assembled on the streets to denounce the great wrong perpetrated, and in the afternoon an immense mass meeting was held at the Court House, when the stores were closed, that all might participate. Rev. K. C. Marshall presided, and resolutions were adopted condemning all violence, disclaiming responsibility of the deeds of last night, and pledging the support of the law of the land, which is strong enough for all. The city is perfectly quiet, with a firmer determination than ever to check violence in future.

New Orleans Congratulates Ohio.

NEW ORLEANS, October 13.—The following was telegraphed this afternoon to A. F. Wykoff, Chairman of the Republican Committee, Columbus, O: We celebrate your victory with one hundred guns, now being fired. Conservatives here vie with the Republicans in congratulations over the defeat of the inflation heresy. T. B. Packard, Chairman Republican Committee.

OBITUARY.

Samuel E. Dimmick.

By telegram from Harrisburg announcement was made of the death of Samuel E. Dimmick, Attorney General of Pennsylvania, which took place at the State capital, near midnight, on the 11th inst., after a brief illness. The birthplace of Mr. Dimmick was Orange county, New York; the date of his birth, 1822. After receiving a liberal education he studied law, and having been admitted to the bar he removed to Honesdale, in this State. Here he practiced his profession and resided up to the period of his death. For a number of years he was the law partner of Hon. William H. Dimmick, who held a seat in Congress from 1851 to 1855. Being a studious, thoughtful, industrious man, the rise of Mr. Dimmick was rapid in his profession, while the high moral standard of his conduct soon enabled him to enjoy the respect, confidence and esteem of the public. Being in a portion of the State intersected by numerous heavy railroad and canal companies, his legal services were often called into requisition either on one side or the other of important and intricate issues of facts and law. The Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, clients of Mr. Dimmick during his career at the bar, all bear testimony to his great legal ability and spotless integrity. While he had strong political convictions he did not often hold public positions. In 1872 he was a delegate to the Republican State Convention. In the convention that revised the Constitution of the State, Mr. Dimmick was a most useful member during the time he remained in that body, which was limited by his appointment to succeed Hon. F. Carroll Brewster as Attorney General of the State, on the 22d of January, 1873. In this office he was a sound legal adviser of the Governor, and attended to all matters committed to his charge with the utmost care and painstaking fidelity. In May, 1874, Governor Hartranft selected Mr. Dimmick as one of the seven members of a commission to propose amendments to the new Constitution, as authorized at the preceding session of the Legislature. This was the last post he filled outside his regular official duties. At the time of his death he was in Harrisburg on business connected with the Board of Pardons, and left that place only to lie down upon a bed of death. Mr. Dimmick was in all respects an honest, useful citizen and an irreproachable public officer.

There appeared last week in the obituary column of the Philadelphia Ledger notices of the deaths of fourteen persons—four men and ten women—who had lived to or beyond the advanced age of eighty years, to wit: Catharine O'Brien, aged 80; Margaret Love, 80; Martha Dougherty, 81; Jane Lafferty, 81; Daniel Crowley, 83; Catharine Dunlevy, 83; Jacob Ruth, 83; Susan Stowman, 84; Catharine Thorn, 84; Patrick Gordon, 87; Catharine Myers, 87; Elizabeth Schenk, 89; Michael Doyle, 90, and Elizabeth Walker, 90. Mr. Jacob Ruth, whose death at the age of 83 is recorded above, died September 28th, his wife, Mrs. Eunice Ruth, having died at the age of 79 but two days before.

THE Pope's toe got stubbed in Ohio.

EVENTS are ripening the probability of PERSHING's defeat into a certainty.

ACCOMMODATION Bill now wishes he could be converted into specie on demand.

THE Post should not enumerate its germinal pullets previous to the incubating process.

SHAM CARY waited for the noose on Tuesday night. And presently something dropped.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM HOWARD DAY will address the Republicans at Altoona on Saturday. He is a fine speaker.

IT IS now thought that SHAM CARY will start a rag mill of his own and issue fifteen cent shinplasters with which to pay for his "refreshments."

THE Chairman of the Ohio Democratic State Committee said he would "stake his reputation as a public man on ALLEN's election." He should now step down and out.

GREAT is autumn! Brilliant in colors, rich in fruits and vintage, exhilarating in air and sunshine, and clamorous with free suffrage, universal sovereignty, and Republican victory.

THE Boston Post says the Republicans are carrying on "a whispering canvass" in that State. The Democrats will think it is thunder, three weeks hence, when their opponents RICE and speak.

THE Troy Times says the threatened lock-out in that city causes no excitement at the iron works there. There are no fears of such an emergency at present. Times are too hard for any such conflict.

THERE will be over one hundred per cent. more wheat sown in Southern Kansas than last year. The farmers are becoming convinced that that section is destined to be the great wheat granary of the West, as the crops of the last three years have proved.

THERE are faint but growing signs of a want of harmony among our local Democracy. Some of the brethren are giving out with a good deal of emphasis that they won't go for this or that man, etc. The great architect of evil is likely to be summoned to the front.

A FEW days ago the Post said: "The New York Tribune's figures on Ohio elect ALLEN by over 16,000. * * * The total vote of the State is put at 525,000, which would leave ALLEN 270,000, a majority of 16,000. Perhaps these figures are about right." The prophetic insight of the Post is growing dim.

"I AIN'T at all skeered, General," said a Confederate Tennesseean who was making rapid progress to the rear during the fight at Chicamaugua, "I ain't at all skeered, but I'm terribly demoralized." That exactly describes the condition of the Pennsylvania Democracy yesterday, as they scanned the returns from Ohio.

THE Columbus, Ohio, Journal, protests against having ALLEN's usefulness ended with last Tuesday. Having beaten him there on a State platform it now wants "to see him extend his usefulness by standing on a National inflation platform as the next Democratic candidate for President." This may be COMLY, but it is very cruel.

THE first of the reports of the honorary Commissioners of the United States to Vienna has been published. It is by HOWARD PAINTER, of this State. It presents at great length the process of each nation represented at the Exposition in treating ores, lead, silver, copper and zinc, and also gives full statistics of the present condition of each of these mining interests in Europe.

JOAQUIN MILLER is evoking more mysterious melodies from his well-strummed lyre:

> "Oh, how it smelt,
> As slowly sunk the cloud-pavillioned sun.
> And when the night on hill and plain had duly dwelt,
> And morning came—oh how it smelt!"

The presumption seems to be that he had some recondite reference to the Democratic party of Ohio, at the late election.

WE learn from the Washington Star that the United States Supreme Court has set the 26th instant for the argument of the appeal of the United States from the decision of the Court of Claims, the latter having made a decision favorable to the claim of the Union Pacific Railroad on account of transportation. No case heretofore in the Supreme Court has so much money interest as the present one, it involving, with the capital stock of $65,000,000 of the company, interest for thirty years, etc., upward of $200,000,000.

THE New York Express publishes carefully collected and collated statistics showing that the whole fire insurance business of the country the past sixteen years has paid out three million dollars more than it has received. Also, the aggregate receipts of thirty-eight leading national companies for an average period of thirteen years preceding January, 1874, were $271,923,368 59; during the same time they sustained losses and paid in expenses (not including dividends or any compensation whatever to stockholders) $283,908,653 73, showing a net loss of $12,615,285 14.

THE Republicans of Pennsylvania now have it within their power to achieve a decisive victory on the second of November. All the conditions of the canvass are favorable to our success. But no victory is won without effort, without a utilization of opportunities. Every Republican must not only vote himself, but see that his neighbor is induced to go to the polls and cast a ballot for our ticket. The Democracy are hard at work; certainly we should be no less vigilant or active. Let us all do our full duty, to the end that our triumph may be as complete as, with proper effort, it is sure.

A BOSTON letter to the New York Tribune says that General BARTLETT, who was nominated by the Democrats for the Lieutenant Governorship of Massachusetts, is the most popular man in that State to-day. Hear him:

> "Never in politics long enough to make an enemy, his chivalrous speech at the Lexington centennial touched a chord in the popular heart. He is a new man; he is a hero; he is as magnanimous in peace as he was brave in war; he is upright, pure, dignified; he is just the ideal man, in short, for whom the people are yearning."

We can believe it: he has declined the proffered nomination.

ACCORDING to the London Sanitary Record the world is exposed to a source of poisoning from the use of arsenical glycerine and the arseniate of alumina as mordants. It appears that these substances are now coming largely into use, especially among the English and Alsatian manufacturers of cotton printed goods, as substitutes for albumen, which is much more expensive, some substance being required to fix especially the analine colors, which are now so much in demand. The most suspicious fabrics are stated to be those of a violet ground with white figures and those printed in brownish yellow or reddish brown designs, and which are sold at low prices.

THE North Carolina Constitutional Convention has adjourned. During the latter part of the session several attempts were made to repudiate the specie tax bonds. The Democrats succeeded in getting 47 votes in favor of the dishonest scheme, while 49 were cast against it. This circumstance, taken in connection with which the Democracy of several States, as in Ohio and here, regard the notion of inflating the greenback currency, indicates the general drift and tendency of the party. Their assault is aimed at the creditors of the Government and the honor of the nation, and those who compose the bulk of their adherents are simply dupes, blindly seeking to destroy themselves.

A GROWING PROBLEM.

Speaking of the fact that the leaders of the skilled laboring classes in England, two of whom are members of Parliament, now generally advise successfully against strikes and in favor of arbitration, the Springfield Republican propounds the pertinent inquiry whether we are ready to accept the same conclusion in this country, or whether capital or labor or both will insist so pig-headedly on their "rights as to necessitate the same expensive organization and tuition of strife?" This question is indeed, worthy of the most serious consideration, as the lessons of the Fall River troubles of themselves teach. In a thoughtful article on this subject the Chicago Tribune shows that the conditions of employment which made the late strike in that city possible still exist in greater force than ever, and that there is more bitterness of feeling between masters and men now than there was then. It is as certain as sunrising that the employees will secretly combine, despite their promise; that they will collect funds for the sake of waging a more successful fight in the future with their employers; and that they will strike again as soon as the suffering caused by this strike has ceased to be felt. Is there no way of preventing the accomplishment of this wretched programme? If there is, it behooves the masters to try it. They have conquered; they can afford to be magnanimous; they ought to be just. The Tribune asks:

"Cannot they at least propose to their operatives the establishment of permanent boards of arbitration, such as Mr. Mundella and Judge Kettle have made so deservedly successful in England? They might well go beyond this and try the experiment, for six months or a year, of dividing some portion of their surplus profit with their men. By surplus profits, we mean those above a fair percentage on the capital invested. If some of this surplus is offered to the men, in proportion to the wages earned by each during the time for which this dividend on labor is declared, it acts as a powerful incentive to the employees to do their very best. It makes the folly of strikes and the benefit of hard and honest work plain to the dullest intellect. Cannot manufacturers in Fall River and outside of Fall River lay these facts to heart, and do something to remedy the barbarous demoralization of the relations between capital and labor?"

THE next election takes place in California on the 20th instant, on which date that State holds its judicial election, choosing at the same time its Superintendent of Instruction. The Independent candidate for the latter office has retired, and the contest will be between EZRA P. CARR, Republican, and O. P. FITZGERALD, Democrat, but it is doubtful if the contest is a strict party one. The full official vote of the State for Governor at the election in September has not yet been promulgated, but unofficial figures give a Democratic majority of 973, the totals being: For IRWIN, Democrat, 61,525; PHELPS, Republican, 30,922; BIDWELL, Independent, 29,630. On Monday, October 15, elections are to be held in Oregon and Colorado. In Oregon, the election is a special one to fill the vacancy in Congress caused by the death of Hon. GEORGE A. LA DOW, Democrat. Mr. LA DOW was elected last fall by a vote of 9,642, to 9,340 for RICHARD WILLIAMS, Republican, and 6,350 for TIMOTHY W. DAVENPORT, Independent. There are now three candidates in the field, HENRY WARREN, Republican, LAFAYETTE LANE, Democrat, and GEORGE M. WHITNEY, Independent. The election in Colorado will be for the choice of members of a convention to prepare a constitution preliminary to the admission of the Territory as a State into the Union on the 4th of July, 1876, the enabling act of Congress having been approved by the President on the 3d of March last. If carried, the convention will meet in Denver on the 20th of December next. The final election of the month will be held in Missouri, on Saturday, October 30th, when the new Constitution adopted in convention on the 2d of August last will be submitted to the vote of the people.

UNLESS all the usual signs by which results are foreshadowed fail, the late Republican victory in Ohio presages the election of Governor HARTRANFT by a most handsome and decisive majority. This conclusion, however, is predicated upon the idea that ninety-nine out of every hundred Republicans in the State appreciate the magnitude of the issues for which we fight, and will need no urging to go to the polls, and that the hundredth man who may be unwell, or need conveyance or something of the kind, will be aided by his neighbors to get to the ballot-box. It rests upon the belief that local committees, as they love their State, their country and their children will see to it that not one Republican, unless in mortal sickness, stays at home on election day, that Republicans will be brave as they are vigilant, and that every member of the party is prepared and ready to do his duty. With this assurance, victory is as certain as anything in the future can be.

THE New York press, which has closely watched the course of things at the Creedmoor range through the season just closed, speaks with warm gratification of the proficiency made. The range has been in constant use, much enthusiasm has been evoked among the competing corps, and the skill acquired in the use of firearms surpasses anything before known. The Army and Navy Journal, speaking of military rifles, says the rise of skill in American military markmanship has been so rapid since the international match of 1874 that we now count our "cracks" by hundreds, where there were only scores before. High encomiums are bestowed upon American arms in comparison with any other.

Now that statues have been erected to HERMAN, in Germany, and WILLIAM the Conqueror, in France, is it not time that some respect was paid to the memory of NOAH? Perhaps JOSHUA and DAVID, who were as great conquerors, in their day, as the Norman carpet-bagger, should be remembered before the old patriarch who navigated safely the waters of the flood with his household; but if we have to go so far back for our heroes, surely these old Scripture worthies are as deserving of honor as HERMAN or WILLIAM the Conqueror. And even when NOAH has been immortalized in marble, ADAM will still remain unprovided with a memento.

> He digged it for his brother,
> But for his sin he did fall in

A Word for the Women.

We do not hesitate to say that the average woman, educated in the better class of schools in this country, is a better scholar and a more capable and accomplished person than the average college graduate of the other sex. What we want is cheaper schools of an equal excellence. The farmer's boy goes to college, finds cheap tuition, wins a scholarship perhaps, boards in commons, earns money during vacation and gets through, while his sister stays at home, because the only places where she can get an equal education are expensive, beyond her means. There is no college that needs to be so richly endowed as a woman's college. Women are not men, quarrel with the fact as we may, and they cannot get along so cheaply and with such self-helpfulness as men while going through the processes of their education. If we are to have women's colleges, we must have well-paid professors, philosophical apparatus, cabinets, collections, art-galleries, laboratories, and they must be provided for by private munificence. Provision should be made for the poor, so that high education shall come within the reach of all. There is not a women's college, or an advanced public institution for the education of women, that is not to-day in need of a large endowment for the purpose of bringing its advantages within the reach of those whose means are small.

Now we commend the matter particularly to rich women. They are many, scattered up and down the country, who are wondering what they shall do with their money when, and even before, they die. To all these we beg the privilege of commending this great object. Let the boys alone. They have been pretty well taken care of already, and the men will look after them. It is for you, as women wishing well for your own sex, and anxious for its elevation in all possible ways, to endow these institutions that are springing up about the country in its interest, so that the poor shall have an equal chance with the rich. You can greatly help to give the young women of all classes as good a chance as their brothers enjoy, and you can hardly claim a great deal of womanly feeling if you do not do it.—Dr. J. G. Holland; Scribner for October.

Light Absorbed by the Sun's Atmosphere.

Pickering and Strange have investigated photometrically the amount of light absorbed by the sun's atmosphere. By means of a porte-lumiere carrying a black mirror and lens, an image of the sun 40 cm. in diameter was thrown on a screen 230 cm. from the aperture. A circular hole was cut in the screen, and behind this the photometer disk was placed. By moving the mirror any portion of the sun's image could be thrown on the photometer, and its light measured. The results are thus given: The probable error does not exceed one per cent., except close to the edge. The light at the edge is about 0.4 that at the center. The variations in brightness are nearly those which would be produced by a homogeneous atmosphere whose height is equal to the sun's radius, and its opacity such that only twent-six per cent. on the light is transmitted. There appears to be a slightly different distribution of the light along the polar from that along the equatorial diameter. If the sun's atmosphere were removed, the brightness of the sun's disk would be uniform and 3.83 times that of the center of the disk at present. Moreover, the total amount of light would be increased 4.64 times.—Editor's Scientific Record in Harper's Magazine.

MYSTERIES OF THE TOILET.

How a French Woman Makes Herself Beautiful—Passing for Thirty at Fifty.

[From the Metropolitan.]

I had the pleasure, yesterday, of "assisting"—that is to say, looking on, not helping—at the toilet of a French woman, a genuine Parisian. I was a good deal surprised, that I admit; and she was a good deal surprised at my surprise. She imagined that the extremes of artificiality arrived at in Paris—making a sort of dual woman, as it were, out of one—were known to us; and she considers us semi-barbarians since she discovered how much nearer the natural state we are.

She began, my Francaise, by submitting herself to her maid, who on her part, began by subjecting her to a face friction of alder flower water. This accomplished, the previously sallow face became of a clearer hue, an ivory yellow. Every particle of impurity in the pores yielded to the influence of the alder flower water, with which half a goblet of warm water had been mixed. The throat, neck and hands partook of the refreshing dew, adding a luster to the freshness given by a tepid bath of twenty minutes and a shower bath of five, gone through with a half hour before the beginning of the mysteries of dressing or the "getting up."

Next came a rubbing of a scented iris powder in the dark hair, which was short—that is to say, not more than a foot and a half long—and rather thick. When the iris powder was brushed out and carefully removed at the temples and nape of the neck, a delicate creme, similar to cold cream, but without lard—the juice of lettuce being its main ingredient—was laid over the whole skin of the neck, face and hands, and allowed to remain ten minutes. This, I was informed, was intended to do away with the contraction of the features arising from want of sleep, which want of sleep had arisen from too much cafe noir at dinner. I had not observed any "contraction des traits," and thought within myself how much fancy would do. The Parisian informed me that camphor and creme had a similar composing effect upon the features, especially after the fatigues of a ball.

The next thing done was the removal of every trace of the creme with an extremely fine linen cloth. This was a skillful operation, for while rubbing the skin into satin-like smoothness the femme-de-chambre did not make it red or in any way roughen its surface. She seemed to polish, and in polishing whiten her mistress' complexion.

The next process was the application of veloutine, a compound of bismuth and rice powder, having the fixative quality of the first and the delicacy of the last ingredient. But ah! the care with which the maid applied the preparation. It was absolutely impossible, in being thus laid on, to detect the presence of any foreign aid. The skin had the firm, clear whiteness of alabaster, with a suggestion of sunny luster and creaminess to subdue it.

Then came the grand affair of the eyebrows. These were brushed with a minute soft brush, with dark bristles and a handle inlaid with mother of pearl, and the least possible tracing of fard indien, from a small stone jar, laid upon them.

Under the eyes—very fine eyes, and needing no aid from art—an estampe of leather, upon which the fard indien was lightly rubbed, laid now a dusky shadow, which increased the brilliancy of the eyes to a great, and, to my mind, unpleasant degree. What was to become of this appliance in case of emotion I cannot say. Perhaps a French woman only cries when she chooses.

The neck and hands now partook of the bismuth powder whitening, and after that the hair was dressed very low on the neck, frizzed a little over the forehead, and with less addition of false hair than has been customary for years. A small natte of permanently crimped black hair, looped with a white ivory comb cut in cameo medallions, made up this part of the toilet, only one small ringlet being suffered to play about the neck.

But it was when the large peignoir was removed and the under toilet began, that astonishment claimed me for its own.

First, a corset, of course, you will say. But, let me remark, there are corsets and corsets. The one placed above the delicate garment of flesh-colored raw silk, which takes the place of linen with the elegantes of Paris, and clings to the form so as in no way to increase the size by bulk of folds around the waist, was a corset of gray silk, stitched with rose color and edged with Valenciennes on the hips and about the shoulders. But in the make of this "article of female wear" there entered art that amounted to genius. For, set in at the hips and making the bustie were curved bones that stood out in a swell of several inches, and formed an incorporate part of the corset itself, impossible of detection when the skirt of the dress was placed over it.

Then the flesh-colored silk stockings; the short cambric skirt with myriad tucks, insertions and flutings of lace; the delicate bottines of black satin; the white muslin dress, without assistance of color except a rose at the throat, and made so extremely short in front as to display the entire foot; the one long hair-pin with its head une grosse perle fine, and the careless drawing up of the draping at one side to display the underskirt of raw silk; this and the toilets were an accomplished feat and fact.

Let me not omit to say that the muslin sleeve was so extremely tight to the arm that it seemed like a second skin. It terminated two inches above the well rounded yet delicate wrist, where a quaint bracelet of West India beetles, the cadeau of a lady admirer from Cuba, completed the ornamentation of so much studied simplicity.

It was really very pretty, and the lady looked charming—let us say thirty years old. Her age? Oh—well, fifty.

The Independent Voter.

[From the Philadelphia North American.]

Some of our contemporaries now come forward with a defense of the Liberal Republican movement of 1872, and in justification of the so-called independent voters into which that movement seems to have resolved itself at the present time. The argument is that the movement was originally an effort put forth by the reform elements of the Republican party to rebuke maladministration and purify party action. In going over the ground of political action since that time every success of the Democratic party in localities previously Republican is ascribed to the independent voters. Thus it is shown that Allen was elected Governor of Ohio, not because Republicans voted for him, but because they abstained from voting at all. Similarly it is shown that Gaston was elected in Massachusetts by the same tactics. The defeat of General Dix in New York is shown to have resulted to the refusal of the independent voters to vote for him; and the election of the Democratic State ticket and a Democratic Legislature in this State last year was clearly the result of abstention on the part of Republicans. If we take these facts and admissions into account we must conclude that the influence of the independent voter is purely negative, because it manifests itself in non-voting as a rule, and not in affiliation with one or the other of the principal parties in order to throw the other. The reply is that true independence is not a negative but always a positive force, and that no party ever did or ever can effect a permanent lodgment in popular esteem without constant aggression. No party can more than nominally exist upon a basis of negation.

The truth seems to be that the Liberal Republicans never had any organization. Born of a political cyclone, and having passed its life so far in the midst of fiery ebullitions, the Liberal Republican movement has never advanced a step beyond the nebular stage. Starting out of a confused clamor for reform it has seldom, and we think only once, displayed any positive force. And it is notable that on that occasion it acted with the most corrupt political organization American politics ever gave birth to—the Bourbon Democracy. That party had been tried for a quarter of a century and more, and found utterly faithless and corrupt. It went out of power leaving a stench behind it which not all the purgative processes of war could overcome. Yet this band of independent voters, as it now delights to be known, deliberately asked the American people to ignore all the facts of history, and place their trust once more in a party which had been trusted over and over again only to betray. In Ohio it asked the people to remit to power the very men who hugged Vallandigham and his treason to their bosoms. In New York these independent voters refused to indorse the only real reform instituted in that great State, and either by abstention from voting, or by voting for Tilden, struck reform a blow from which it will not recover in a decade. In Pennsylvania it secured by abstention the success of a party which had ransacked the treasury for nearly a quarter of a century, and left it empty, and the State burdened with a debt of near forty millions, with no assets available to lift overdue bonds. The greater part of these achievements were the result of negation no doubt, but the inclination of the party of independent voters to play into the hands of a party composed of the ring masters of corruption has been pretty clearly shown.

As a party of negation can have no cohesiveness, we now behold the independent voters divided and distributed anew. The abler men have found it necessary to turn their batteries against the very party which they knew never intended to engage in political reform, and which employed its temporary success, won by the independent voters as they now admit, in demonstrating its inability to devise any policy other than radical dishonesty. The ruck of the Liberal party has gone over, "hook and line," "bob and sinker," to the Democratic party. There is a certain fitness in this affiliation. The men who have entered into it have gone to their own place at last. They are natural allies of the Democracy, being for the most part of the school of Free Companions or soldiers of fortune. There is, however, another portion composed of men who love to depend as a sort of club over the heads of Republican leaders, and who deal largely in threats of what they will do in certain emergencies. They utterly refuse to have anything to do with the preliminary work in politics, deeming that in the last degree vulgar. Their self-imposed office is to sit in judgment upon the work of others. If anything be done that does not suit them they lay their heads together and resolve that it must be undone, and done over in the regulation manner. And if their demand be refused they begin to threaten terrible things. Nor can it be said that these negative gentlemen act wholly without reason. They are generally men who have fallen on soft spots in this thorny world, and have been petted and patted on the back by a class of people who devote their time to working up a very small amount of stock into a very large amount of reputation. It is by no means necessary that a negative politician should have more brains than the law allows or prescribes. But such a politician should have very large pretensions. He must assume a great deal and then engage a few claqueurs to back his pretensions. The rest is easy.

It may be necessary to assure these refugees of reform that real reform is beyond the comprehension of men who signalize their first efforts by selecting crooked sticks to do straight work. The methods of reform never clash with the object. Negation is not one of those methods. Neither is indirection nor chicanery. Reform never took aught by trick or by temporary shift. Nor was it nor will it ever be secured by men who are too proud to work and too indolent to reform themselves. These men who have set up in the business of reform seem to forget that all great reformers have been aggressive and not mere fault-finders, practical men and not fanciful theorists. Not one has ever stood aloof and demanded that the world should ever come to them. They have gone to the world and laid hold of it and moved with it, partaking of the dust and grime of labor. And in every instance they have been sturdy partisans, aware that a man without a following is particularly helpless.

An Unanswerable Argument.

The strongest argument which can be urged against the advisibility of administering such corrosive and nerve-destroying poisons as arsenic and quinine for intermittent and remittent fevers, is the vastly superior success in the prevention and cure of such diseases of a medicine which is the very antipode of the above named drugs, both in respect of its composition and the results wrought by it. Such a medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a purely vegetable preparation, which not only eradicates with wonderful promptitude every trace of fever and ague, and kindred types of malarious disease, from the system, but is a certain preventive of all maladies begotten of miasma-tainted air and water. These results mineral anti-febrile remedies do not effect with certainty, and their continued use entails consequences highly pernicious to the system. The Bitters, on the contrary, not only afford speedy relief, but establish health on a permanent basis.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY!
The Cordial Balm of Syricum and Tonic Pills.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

However obscure the cause may be which contribute to render nervous debility a disease so prevalent, affecting, as it does, nearly one-half of our adult population, it is a melancholy fact that day by day, and year by year, we witness a most frightful increase of nervous affections from the slightest neuralgia to the more grave and extreme forms of

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Is characterized by a general languor or weakness of the whole organism, especially of the nervous system, obstructing and preventing the ordinary functions of nature; hence there is a disordered state of the secretions; constipation, scanty and high-colored urine, with an excess of earthy or limey sediment, indicative of waste of brain and nerve substance, frequent palpitations of the heart, loss of memory, and marked irresolution of purpose, and inability to carry into action any well defined business enterprise, or to fix the mind upon any one thing at a time. There is great sensitiveness to impress, though retained but a short time, with a flickering and fluttering condition of the mental faculties, rendering an individual what is commonly called a whiffle-minded, or fickle-minded man.

This condition of the individual, distressing as it is, may, with a certainty, be cured by

THE CORDIAL BALM OF SYRICUM AND LOTHROP'S TONIC PILLS.

Medicines unrivalled for their wonderful properties and remarkable cures of all Nervous Complaints. Their efficacy is equally great in the treatment and cure of Cancers, Nodes, Ulcers, Pastule, Pimples, Tetter, Fever Sores, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Scaldhead, Barbers' Itch, Scurvy, Salt Rheum, Copper-Colored Blothes, Glandular Swelling, Worms and Black Spots in the Flesh, Discolorations, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth and Nose, Sore Legs, and sores of every character, because these medicines are the very best

BLOOD MEDICINE

Ever placed before the people, and are warranted to be the most Powerful Alterative ever originated by man, removing Morbid Sensibility, Depression of Spirits, Dementia, and Melancholia.

Each package of the Cordial Balm contains one box of the Tonic Pills, which may also be had separately at 50 cents per box.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, October 13, 1875.

An indication of the general commercial derangements which are depressing the interests of Europe as well as in this country, is developed in a recent article by the New York Bulletin from the condition of the five great national banks of Europe. No better criterion of the activity of business is easy to obtain than the volume of bank loans; for the banks being the agents through which the larger credit operations of trade are transacted the volume of their business varies pretty evenly with that of trade. This is more universally applicable as a rule in Europe than in this country, for here, previous to 1873, a portion of bank loans was for carrying on works of development, such as railway building, and of carrying bonds of a nature for permanent investment until they could be placed in the hands of investors. A comparison of the private loans of the five great banks of Europe last month with those of three years ago shows a decrease of £29,000,000, or $145,000,000, with a loss common to all the banks except that of Belgium. The comparison is as follows:

	—Private Loans— Sept., 1875. £ Sterling.	Sept., 1872. £ Sterling.
Bank of England	18,075,000	23,024,000
Bank of France	23,670,000	40,700,000
Bank of Prussia	21,700,000	27,660,000
Bank of Belgium	11,355,000	10,647,000
Bank of Austria	15,758,000	17,500,000
Total	£90,558,000	£119,531,000

In connection with this decrease in the loans there has naturally been a contraction in the amount of money in active circulation, falling in the aggregate upon the specie. The following statement shows the amount of specie in each of the five banks in September 1875 and 1872.

	—Specie.— Sept. 1875.	Sept. 1872.
Bank of England	£28,085,000	£22,137,000
Bank of France	64,900,000	31,211,000
Bank of Prussia	25,160,000	25,326,000
Bank of Belgium	3,726,000	5,063,000
Bank of Austria	13,735,000	12,701,000
Total	£135,606,000	£96,438,000

It appears from these figures there was last month £39,200,000 more specie in these five national banks than three years previous, being an increase of 41 per cent. The Bulletin says: "This extraordinary accumulation has come, for the most part, from the flow of money into the banks, in consequence of its not being required to the usual extent for the purposes of trade. France has gathered into her bank a portion of the redundant supply of other countries, owing to the fact that, from causes that need not be now specified, the exchanges have ruled in her favor for an unusually prolonged period; and hence the gain in specie of the Bank of France amounts to the extraordinary figure of £33,700,000, a large portion of her accumulation having been drawn directly or indirectly from Germany."

The note circulation of the five banks was £200,594,000 in September last, against £200,837,000 three years previous; the issues of the banks of France, Prussia and Austria showing a slight decrease, while those of the banks of England and Belgium show an increase to about the same amount.

—The Wall Street Review calls attention to the fact that on the 24th ult. a call for $5,000,000 5-20's expired, and on that date the Syndicate should have settled with the Treasury for the $5,000,000 five per cents taken by them, and says that the reports from the Department at Washington show no evidence of an adjustment of these accounts. From the fact that some of the Syndicate bankers have been large lenders of gold on the market and from other circumstances, it is inferred that the settlements of the 24th ult. have been postponed for some reason, and it will be difficult to foretell the probable course of gold. The Syndicate has the power to settle at any time. It is possible, but not probable, that the Syndicate accounts for the last call have been adjusted. The next call to expire is one for $10,000,000 on the 14th inst.

GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
WEDNESDAY, October 13, 1875.

The commercial movement continues steady and in fair volume, with prices generally well sustained, and no important changes to note. There is a tendency toward ease in provisions, but no quotable decline has taken place as yet; the demand for immediate consumptive requirements is good. In grain there is a very free movement, and under the influence of large stocks the tendency is toward ease, but former values are generally maintained as yet, though in some cases the quotation is rather nominal. The flour trade is active in jobbing lines, at easy but unchanged values. In country produce there is an active trade in the products, with a quotably unchanged range of prices. Groceries continue active and steady. Petroleum is weak and rather dull, with a marked decline in both branches. Wool shows some activity, with a steadier tendency to values but no advance. Dry goods are active, and a very satisfactory fall trade in this line may now be considered an accomplished fact. In boots and shoes, hardware, general merchandise, &c., a steady and moderately good trade is reported.

The receipts of the leading articles of produce since our last are as follows:

Flour bbls	1,394	Apples, bbls	463

The quotations given in the following reports are prices realized in wholesale transactions, unless otherwise specified. On small sales, dealers will charge an advance. Sales of grain, unless stated to the contrary, are free of elevator.

Grain, Flour and Feed.

GRAIN—There is a very active market, with receipts for the week ending to-day aggregating larger than any previous week this year, being over 108,000 bushels. Under the heavy supply of all kinds of grain there is a tendency toward ease in prices, but no quotable decline was noted to-day. Wheat is in goood milling demand at easy prices. The week's receipts were 18,897 bushels. Old wheat is rather nominal at $1 50@1 53 per bushel for white; $1 48@1 50 for amber; $1 45@1 48 for red winter; new wheat is in good demand for strictly sound grades. Michigan white wheat is active at $1 40@1 43 per bushel; prime sound new red winter $1 30@1 35. Corn continues rather dull and weak with light receipts, being only 7,210 bushels for the week. We quote shelled at 70@71c. ℔ bushel for prime yellow; 69@70c for high mixed; 67@68c for low mixed; ear corn, 71@72c, per bushel for prime yellow on track; 69@70c for mixed. Oats were fairly active at steady values. Receipts are 38,918 bushels. We quote Western white at 45@46c per bushel; Ohio and Pennsylvania do, 43@44c; dark to light mixed, 42@43c. Receipts 25,850 bushels for the week. Rye is fairly active at 87@90c per bushel for prime. Jobbing prices of corn and oats rule 3@5c above quotations.

We quote the wholesale prices of the local millers as follows: No. 1 white wheat flour $8 00 ℔ bbl; No. 1 amber do $7 50; red wheat flour $7 25; in sacks 25c off ℔ bbl. The jobbing prices of the leading dealers for standard brands of flours are steady and firm as follows: Choice brands of white winter wheat flour at $8 00@8 25; well known brands of family flour $7 50; Wisconsin is quoted at $7 00; Minnesota $7 25; new red winter wheat flour is active at $6 50@6 75; Graham flour $7 25@7 50; self raising flour, in 6 ℔ packages, $3 25 ℔ dozen packages; cornmeal 35c ℔ bushel; oatmeal $7 00 ℔ bbl; kegs $3 75. Rye flour $6 25 ℔ bbl.

HAY—The market continues dull and depressed with receipts of the week of 1,898 bales. We quote prime No. 1 timothy, on track at $20 00@21 00 ℔ ton; No. 2 $18 00@19 00; upland prairie $12 00@17 00. State of the Market.

CATTLE.

It will be noticed that the run of cattle is extremely light this week, footing up only 263 cars, against 421 cars last week. There were but 106 cars of through cattle this week, whilst our last week's table showed 292 cars, and yard cattle fell 101 cars short of last week. The most noticeable feature was the almost total absence of really prime, 1,400 to 1,600 ℔s bullocks. There was, however, a plentiful supply of 800 to 1,000 ℔s bullocks, in condition for slaughtering, and from them butchers were compelled to select their stock, the prices ranging from $3 50@5 50, while a few strictly good fat cattle sold up to $6 25@6 50. Notwithstanding the light supply the market has ruled dull all the week, and prices were, if anything, shaded from those ruling at the close on Saturday. We quote as follows:

Prime, 1,400 to 1,600 ℔s	$6 25@6 50
Fair, 1,100 to 1,200 ℔s	5 00@5 50
Medium, 900 to 1,000 ℔s	4 25@4 75
Bulls and cows	3 25@3 75
Good stockers	2 75@3 00
Texans	3 00@3 50

HOGS.

The run of hogs was 50 cars lighter than last week, which caused an advance on best Philadelphias, with a brisk market for all grades. We quote:

Best Philadelphias	$8 75@9 00
Good Yorkers	7 75@8 00
Roughs	6 50@7 00

SHEEP.

There was but a slight difference in the offerings this week and last, being 73 cars, against 76½ last week. There was an active demand for good 90 to 115 ℔s sheep, whilst, as usual, common grades were dull sale. We would caution shippers against sending ewes here, as they are not wanted, and unless fat enough for slaughtering, can hardly be given away. The following were the rulings of the market:

Good, 95 to 110 ℔s	$5 25@5 50
Good, 90 to 100 ℔s	4 75@5 00
Common and medium	3 75@4 00
Scalawags, per head	1 25@1 50
Bucks and ewes, per head	1 50@4 00

MILCH COWS.

Owing to the lateness of the season, there were few milkers on sale, which rated as follows:

Choice milkers, calves included	$65 00@70 00
Good	45 00@50 00
Fair	35 00@40 00
Common	28 00@30 00

THE marks last evening indicated about six feet and falling slowly. The weather during the day was remarkably pleasant for the season.

RED river is reported in good boating order.

WM. STRICKER, a Cincinnati pilot, is improving.

DIVER JOHN GWYER is still at Shreveport waiting for the river to fall so he can raise the W. J. Beehan, which sunk there about the 10th of July.

THE Mississippi river rose three feet at St. Paul.

THE steamer H. S. Turner has laid up at Cincinnati.

THE steamer Fearless and barges will arrive on this water.

THE steamer Kittie Hegler is loading at Cincinnati for New Orleans.

CAPTAIN GEO. L. KOUNS has a contract to carry ballast to the jetties.

THE Wild Duck and barges, Captain Adams, will arrive on this water.

CAPTAIN S. SHUMAN has retired from the command of the Exchange.

THE new Ouachita packet Tom Parker is now up that stream for the first time.

THE towboat Grand Lake No. 2 arrived at New Orleans with 23,666 packages.

THE steamer Shannon has been chartered at New Orleans for the Ouachita trade.

THE steamboatmen intend hoisting a flag on one of the towers of the Exposition Building.

THE steamer Ashland will come here and load for New Orleans. So says Captain Kyle.

THE towboat Etna arrived at Cincinnati with 800 tons of pig iron and two barges of Kanawha coal.

THE new steamer W. S. Holt, which left here some days since, passed Vicksburg on Friday.

THE Missouri river is in bad condition for navigation, several steamers being reported aground.

THE new steamer Jack Gumbert makes forty minute trips to the Exposition. Fare only ten cents.

THERE is not sufficient water for coal-boat purposes, but from present indications a rise is not far distant.

CAPTAIN A. R. BUNTING was in the city yesterday. He has been unwell for some time but is recovering.

THE steamers United States and General Lytle have resumed operations between Cincinnati and Louisville.

THE steamer Ella has been sold again. The last purchasers were the Elliott Brothers, and $4,500 cash was the sum.

THE new steamer Fanchon, Captain Sweeney, leaves Cincinnati for this city to-day. This boat is a No. 1 in all respects.

FROM Shreveport to New Orleans cotton is shipped at $1 50 per bale and cattle at $2@$3@$4 per head. Up freights are still card rates.

CLOSE connection is now made at both ends of the rapids, so that no time is lost either way. The busy season has arrived at New Orleans.

THE Salt Valley is laid up at Middleport. The present rise will probably cause her to resume her place in the Pittsburgh and Ironton trade.

FRANK CRAWLEY, a steamboat joiner, while working under the J. W. Garrett at Cincinnati, had his leg broken on Monday morning by a hog chain port falling on him.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal is afraid that the General Lytle and United States will be withdrawn from the United States Mail Line and placed in the Cincinnati and Memphis trade.

CINCINNATI.—Mr. Thomas A Cassilly, of the boat store firm of Semple, Reno & Cassilly, this city, was married last Sunday at Fair Meadows, Hartford, Maryland, to Miss Delia T. Dietrich.

W. H. BOFFINGER, Esq., steamboat agent at New Orleans, has removed his office from 128 Gravier street to No. 11 Commercial Place, in the same room with the American District Telegraph.

CAPTAINS FRANCIS and Theodore have succeeded in raising the boilers, engines, doctor engine, and wheel of the sunken Frank Morgan, and they were to be sold at New Orleans last Saturday.

HO! FOR ST. LOUIS.—The powerful tow-boat Rover, of Grey's Iron Line, is receiving for Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville, Cairo and St. Louis, and will leave on Saturday. Shippers can rely on this.

CAPT. J. M. VANDERGRIFT and other officers of the J. L. Rhoads left for Cincinnati to bring up that steamer. She will arrive on Wednesday and have dispatch for St. Louis and way points.

A MIDDLEPORT dispatch of Monday says: The Daniel Boone came off the Point Pleasant docks to-day. Hiram Shaw, a well known steamboat mate in the lower trade, died yesterday on the steamer Salt Valley coming home, and will be buried here to-morrow.

THE Cincinnati Times makes the following suggestion: We suggest that the Mayor of Cincinnati be invited to visit the levee of this city, and ascertain for himself the extent to which he could make his services valuable to the marine interests of our city.

THE fine passenger steamer Mallie Ragon, Captain Williamson, takes her departure this day for Cincinnati and Louisville. This boat has excellent accommodations and is in charge of gentlemanly officers. Our clever friend H. C. Caldwell will be found in the office.

THE St. Louis Republican says: Pilots report the lights well attended south of this port, and they are of great service. A few more would be all the better. They complain, however, that something has happened to the gauge at Memphis. They can't find the foot of it, and suppose that it has been either washed away or is covered up in mud. These gauges are consulted by all pilots now, and they have learned to make close calculations from them, and when one is missing it puts them out.

THE Memphis Appeal says: Mayor Loague has cast his weather eye toward the marine department of the city at last, and is urging upon the City Council the immediate necessity of repairing our levees. Better late than never, and we hope now that he has begun he will not allow the grass to grow under his feet until the wharf is put into condition to transact the immense business in prospect this season. Steamboatmen only ask this much in return for the exorbitant wharf taxes demanded from them, which they will pay without a murmur if money is appropriated, as intended, toward keeping up the wharf.

A NEW steam torpedo launch, built for the Austro-Hungarian Government, has been tested on the Thames. She attained a speed of more than eighteen knots. Her dimensions are: Length, 67 feet; beam, 8 feet six inches. On the way up to London the vessel was run past a small schooner at a speed of ten knots, and a dummy torpedo was launched against her side. The torpedo struck the schooner amidships at about six feet to seven feet below the water level, and had it been filled with its charge of dynamite (twenty-five pounds) the schooner would undoubtedly have gone to the bottom. The torpedo gear on this vessel consists of two poles 38 feet long, one on either side, and so arranged that an attack may be made directly ahead of the boat, or on the broadside.

THE Lily arrived at Cincinnati on Monday, and will remain there a few days. Coming up she made the following changes in lights between Cairo and Evansville:

Cottonwood Bar—Light on Kentucky side, one mile below Coney creek, moved down about 200 yards.

Flinn's Bar—Light moved down 150 yards on the Illinois side.

Treadwater Island—Light on Illinois side at Brown's Point, moved over to head of Treadwater Island.

Saline Bar—Light on Kentucky side moved down quarter of a mile, and about 100 yards below the head of Cincinnati towhead.

Shawneetown Bar—Three floating lights placed on the bar.

Lights, with few exceptions, are well kept up on the Lower Ohio considering the sickly state of the country.

The Republican Meeting To-Night.

A Republican mass meeting will be held in the Diamond Square this evening, and as will be seen by announcement elsewhere, able speakers will deliver addresses. Previous to the meeting, a grand torchlight parade will be had throughout our sister city. The Hartranft clubs of Pittsburgh will take part, and every member is requested to be promptly at hand to join, before seven o'clock.

Death of Mrs. Kearney.

Mrs. Bridget Kearney, of the South Side, whose troubles have been the subject of much comment in the press lately, died Tuesday evening. It will be remembered the personal effects of Mrs. K. were recently seized for a debt of her husband, on suit of Mr. Provost, before Alderman Hartman, of the South Side. Pending the disposition of the case the unfortunate woman grew sick, gave birth to a child which died. Assistance was afforded the unfortunate woman during her illness, and was freely proffered by the Pennsylvania Hospital authorities, but the complication of troubles did its work, and now there are four orphan children thrown on the world, with their father in England and ignorant of the calamity which has befallen his family. The oldest child is but ten years of age, and the youngest but two years old. 'Squire Krehan will provide for their wants temporarily.

DISASTROUS CONFLAGRATION.

North American Planing Mill Destroyed—Loss $12,000.

An alarm of fire was struck last evening about eight o'clock from box 17, corner of Western and Irwin avenues, Allegheny, which was occasioned by the burning of the North American Planing Mill, on North avenue, owned and operated by Stediford & Eicher. The Allegheny Fire Department was on the ground promptly and worked hard to save the building, but the combustible nature of the same (a two story frame), and of the large quantity of dressed lumber stored therein, all efforts in that direction were fruitless, and the fire resulted in the complete destruction of the mill and its contents. The firemen, however, did the next best thing, by turning their attention to the work of saving adjacent property, in which they succeeded.

The lumber was owned by the two firms. Rynd & Co. and McCurdy & McGuinniss, and was partly insured.

The loss on mill and lumber is estimated at $12,000, upon which there is insurance amounting to $7,000, divided among the Ben Franklin and National, of Allegheny, the Iron City, of Pittsburgh, and several foreign companies. The origin of the fire is not known.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Conference—Personal Consecration—Interesting Sessions To-day.

The attendance at the second day's session of the third annual Conference of the Women's Christian Associations, at Rev. Howard's church, was larger than on the opening day, and much interest was manifested in the proceedings. [As has already been announced the business meetings are for ladies only, and consequently the newspapers had to depend upon the promise made that reports of the transactions would be supplied. This promise has not been fulfilled, and consequently our report is necessarily meagre.] At the morning session yesterday religious exercises were conducted by the New York delegates.

After the calling of the roll, and the reports of the different committee, it was moved to lay other business aside, for the time being, to listen to Mrs. R. Pearsoll Smith's address, on "Personal Consecration."

Mrs. Smith closed, offering a short prayer. After the singing of a hymn and the adoption of the rules reported by the Committhe on Constitution and Rules, the meeting adjourned.

At the afternoon session the roll of delegates was called and reports received. In the evening a Bible reading was conducted by Mrs. R. Pearsall Smith.

This morning devotional exercises will be conducted by the Philadelphia delegates, and a paper on Reformatory Work, written by Mrs. Pennyfather, of England, will be read. At two o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Terhune (Marion Harland) will deliver an address entitled "Our Daughters," and the topic "Boarding Homes" will be considered. In the evening after devotional exercises by the Cleveland delegates, a paper on The Distinctive Work of Young Women's Christian Associations, written by Mrs. McCready, of New York, will be read.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Meeting of the Board of Commissioners—Reports of Officers—Routine Business.

A regular meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners was held last evening. Members present, Messrs. Hayls, Jones, Larimer, McIlroy, Pender, Pitcairn, Torley and Wilson, President.

The report of Acting Chief McIlroy for the month of September showed sixteen fires and alarms with a loss of $9,785 80. The largest fire was that at the Novelty works, where the loss was $8,000.

The Secretary reported expenditures for the past month as $13,372 63 and the total expenditures since January 2d as $101,817 89.

The reports were accepted and filed.

The special committee to whom was referred the question of re-arranging committees, reported in favor of abolishing the alternate monthly committee system and appointing additional permanent committees, on horses, on supplies and on apparatus, each committee to have exclusive control of their separate branch and to report monthly to the Board in writing.

The report was received and the recommendations were adopted. The committees will be appointed in a few days and will take charge of their separate branches at once.

An ordinance for the establishment of an engine company in the Eighteenth ward referred to the commission by the City Property Committee, was referred to a special committee of two consisting of Messrs. Pitcairn and Jones.

A number of bills were presented and ordered to be paid.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Torley and Pender was appointed in conjunction with the chiefs to consult with the managers of the Exposition as to the necessity of an engine at the building.

After transacting routine business. Adjourned.

THE VETOED ORDINANCE.

Special Meeting of Select Council—A Bare Quorum Present—No Attempt to Reconsider—List of Absentees.

Select Council held an adjourned meeting, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of considering the message of the Mayor, vetoing the ordinance authorizing the use of the money in the South Side sinking fund, for the payment of interest on street improvement and other bonds.

In the absence of the President, G. L. Braun was called to preside pro tem.

It was half-past two o'clock before a quorum was obtained.

Mr Shipton stated that it would require forty-four members, three-fifths of the Councils to pass the ordinance over the veto, and as there was a bare quorum present, it was useless to attempt to reconsider the ordinance. He spoke of the great importance of the meeting, and deprecated the want of interest manifested by so many of the members. He would not now move to adjourn, but would do so in five minutes unless three-fifths of the members made their appearance. He was tired coming here, day after day, to find a mere quorum, sometimes not that, and was disposed hereafter to let matters take their own course.

Council proceeded to take up other business.

Resolution to make better provision for reporters in the Common Council chamber was concurred in.

A number of old reports of committees was read and accepted.

A motion to adjourn was lost by a vote of 17 to 19.

Viewers report an opening of Homewood avenue, Washington avenue and Cliff street; approved. Viewers report on change of grade on Hazelwood avenue; laid over. Reports on opening of Wilbert and Beatty streets approved.

THE ABSENTEES.

The roll was then called, when it appeared that the following members were absent: Messrs. Ahl, Atkinson, Bissel, Carr, Doyle Epping, Goldthorpe, Haines, Holliday, Fahnestock, Jeremy, Keebler, Kestner, Knapp, McCombs, MacConnell, McClurg, Noble, Perry, Scheck, Schild, Schmidt. Spahr, Taylor, Waring, Weldon and President Gross.

The meeting then adjourned.

JOHN D. NICHOLAS, Esq., editor of the Indianapolis Journal—a live newspaper man, and a clever gentleman—made a brief stop in our city yesterday, on his way home from Washington city.

HOMEOPATHY.

Eleventh Annual Meeting of the State Society—Opening Session—Address of the President—Interesting Reports—Oration of Dr. McClelland.

FIRST DAY.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Homeopathic Medical Society of Pennsylvania opened yesterday in the Common Council Chamber, Municipal Hall, with a very fair attendance.

Following are among the names of Physicians present from abroad: A. P. Bowie, Uniontown; Pemberton Dudley, Philadelphia; E. A. Farrington, Philadelphia; Bushrod W. James, Philadelphia; J. H. Marsden, Sulphur Springs; H. N. Martin, Philadelphia; Caleb S. Middleton, Philadelphia; Mahlon Preston, Norristown; Mahlon Walker, Philadelphia; J. H. Young, Philadelphia.

Miss Canfield, of Titusville, and Miss Chapman, of Pittsburgh, were also present. These ladies are regular practioners, but were not admitted as members of the Society until later in the session, as will be seen below.

MORNING SESSION.

Owing to the death of the wife of Dr. McClatchey, President of the Society, Dr. J. E. Jones, of West Chester, Vice President, called the meeting to order.

Dr. M. Cote, of this city, delivered a cordial address of welcome to the members of the Society, to which the Chair responded in an eloquent manner.

The formal address of President McClatchey was then read. The President referred to the advantages which resulted from concerted action on the part of physicians and the benefits which follow the annual club meetings where subjects could be fully discussed. He said: "Homeopathic physicians are a decided minority in the profession. The majority, with a few honorable exceptions, entertain towards us an intense and unreasoning hostility, the manifestations of which may vary from time to time, but the spirit of which does not change." He then referred to the various measures and adopted by the opposition and claimed that the only way in which they could be successfully resisted was through concerted and well considered action. He claimed that as the attacks are aimed through the Legislature and through the people, the source of all power, the same agencies must be invoked to counteract them. He thought the only safety lies in the conviction which is so deeply rooted in the minds of the American people, that every citizen has the inherent right to think and act according to our own judgment, so long as he does not infringe upon the liberties of his neighbors. He thought it imperative to keep before the people the justice of their claims to freedom in practice and in teaching, and to an equitable share in the public appointments.

Allusion was next made to the growth of Homeopathy, not only in this country, but in other parts of the world, and illustrations of the rapid developments of the system were given. He referred particularly to the marked tokens of the progress of Homeopathy in public estimation during the past year. In conclusion he referred to the World's Homeopathic Convention to be held in Philadelphia next year, and gave a brief outline of the order of business. He suggested that some action should be taken by the society to extend to those who should attend that convention a formal welcome.

The suggestions were referred to a committee of three consisting of Drs. Sipe and M'Clelland of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Preston, of Norristown.

REPORTS FROM CLUBS, SOCIETIES, ETC.

Dr. Bushrod W. James, of Philadelphia, read a lengthy but exceedingly interesting report of the proceedings of the Hahneman Club, of Philadelphia. The subjects of disease of the heart and ventilation had been discussed at some length, and the conclusions arrived at were reported.

After the paper had been read, Dr. Willard, of Allegheny, suggested that the subjects treated of should be divided and referred to the appropriate bureaus.

Dr. James said it was simply a report from a club and should be received as such. A motion to receive the same was adopted.

Dr. Caruthers next presented the report of the Allegheny County Homeopathic Medical Society, which was received and filed.

Dr. H. N. Martin, of Philadelphia, submitted a report from the Philadelphia Social Medical Club. He explained that the club was composed of but fifteen members, that being the limit. Vacancies as they occurred were filled by election. No written papers were received. The meetings partook of the character of "experience meetings," the subjects being discussed in a conversational manner. The report was accepted.

Dr. R. E. Caruthers reported from the Allegheny County Materia Medica Society. Accepted.

Dr. Buffum, of Pittsburgh, reported from the Allegheny County Anatomical Club.

Dr. James, of Philadelphia, reported that the Philadelphia County Medical Society was in a flourishing condition.

Dr. Burgher submitted a report from the Homeopathic Hospital of Pittsburgh, and a verbal report from the American Institute of Homeopathy held at Put-in-Bay last year.

Dr. J. H. Marsden reported that the Cumberland Valley Medical Society, had not been meeting for some months in consequence of the serious illness of the Secretary. The society was still in existence and hoped to be able to resume meetings in a short time.

Dr. Mahlon Preston, of Norristown, reported the society of Chester county in a prosperous condition.

Dr. Childs, of the Auditing Committee, reported that they had audited the accounts of the Treasurer and had found them all correct. Report accepted.

Dr. J. F. Cooper, of Allegheny, presented a report of the Committee on Subscriptions, after which the report of the Recording Secretary of the State Society was presented by Dr. M. M. Walker, of Germantown, These reports were accepted.

Dr. B. W. James offered a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to prepare resolutions expressive of the sympathy of the members of the Society for President McClatchy, whose wife had recently deceased.

The motion was adopted unanimously.

NEW MEMBERS.

Dr. Cote presented a report from the censors, who submitted the following names of new members of the Society: J. C. King, Allegheny; W. C. Goodno, Philadelphia; R. L. Dartt, Bellefonte; N. J. Gamble, Monongahela City; Millie J. Chapman, Pittsburgh; Frank J. Slough, Fogelsville, Pa.; T. Morris Strong, Pittsburgh; W. C. J. Slough, Fogelsville; L. J. Bradford, Sylvania; James L. Dunn, Conneautville; W. Jefferson Guernsey, Frankford; John Deetrick, Sharpsburg; C. Mohr, Jr., Philadelphia; C. T. Canfield, Titusville; R. Ramage, Allegheny; J. S. Skeels, Albion.

The resignation of B. Bowman, M. D., of Chambersburg, was reported.

The report was accepted and adopted.

Dr. Farrington presented a series of provings of "Natrum Phosporicum," also "Calcarea Carbonica and Selicia compound as nutrition remedies," which were accepted and referred to Committee on Publication.

Dr. J. F. Cooper offered a series of "Proving of Arsenite of Soda." These were made by twelve physicians and students of Allegheny county. The paper was accepted, with a request that the provings be arranged by Dr. Cooper before publication. Dr. C. presented another paper entitled "Observations and Reflections upon Pharmacy," which was accepted.

The society then took a recess until three o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The session opened soon after three o'clock.

The order of business was: "Report of Bureau of Clinical Medicine and Zymoses."

Under this head papers were read by Pittsburgh physicians as follows:

On inflammation of the bladder, by Dr. J. C. Burgher.

On spasms of bladder, by Dr. R. E. Carthers.

On eneuresis of bladder, by Dr. W. F. Edmundson.

Dr. E. A. Farrington read a paper covering cases of disease of bladder that came under his notice.

On Rest as an element in recovery, by Dr. Bushrod W. James.

Dr. H. N. Martin reported several cases of bedside practice.

On paralysis, by Dr. J. H. Buffum.

On irritability of the bladder, by Dr. Rankin, was accepted without being read, and on motion all the papers were referred.

Discussion being in order, Dr. Marsdale made a few remarks, strongly commending the paper of Dr. James on rest.

Dr. Cowley made some remarks on the need of rest, especially in scarlet fever.

Adjourned.

ADDRESS OF DR. M'CLELLAND.

A large and intelligent audience assembled last evening at Library Hall to hear the annual address of Dr. J. H. McClelland, of this city. The subject of the address, The Mind, was ably handled, and throughout the interesting discourse, which was well delivered, the audience gave strict attention. In opening the speaker said: "It sometimes occurs in high art that a sketch or painting possesses, not so much the perfection of finish and detail as a suggestive character, so that the cultivated observer fills up and extends the theme with his own refined conceptions—and the ideal of the artist is thus more than realized. So in this sketch of a mighty theme, could I but imperfectly outline that which would prove suggestive to the cultivated minds of this assemblage, it would be all I could hope to accomplish."

He urged, as in every way worthy, attractive and of surpassing interest, the study of man's highest nature, and said he would endeavor to pursue this psychological inquiry under the following heads:

THE MIND,

First—The nature of the mind. Second—The relation of the mind to the physical organizations, and Third—The relation of the mind to medicine.

Under the first head the speaker referred to the gift of a soul to man as the crowning blessing of Deity, and man, could not avoid the inquiry as to the unseen agent and its nature. He graphically reviewed ideas developed during centuries before and after the Christian Era as to the soul. We come now, he said, to the present, where we are to focalize the light of past ages and and answer for ourselves the question, "what is the nature of the mind."

We are breathing an atmosphere pregnant with Aristotelian thought to-day. We are living in a world filled with the ideas of Justin Martyr, St. Augustine, Thomas Aquiras, Bacon, Descartes and Locke, and the host of their fellows. Idealism, transcendentalism, materialism and sensationalism sway the human mind to and fro between truth and error. France and Germany are poisoned with error, and England follows too much the devices of her own way. It has devolved upon Scotland to strike anew the key note of Descartes by putting into the ranks him, in whom philosophy seem to have culminated—Sir William Hamilton. By him, once again, is consciousness erected as the standard of truth and all that we know is real. What is sensation and its resultant of ideas, if we are not conscious? Or memory, or reason, or judgment, or conscience, if we are not conscious? What mean the hopes of a life to come—the clear voiced admonitions of our souls, of a moral universe with a moral ruler, if, when we are conscious of these, we believe a lie? Since the days of Aristotle the mind has been believed to be immaterial, and to-day we not only give assent to what is almost self-evident, but believe it to be a divine spirit, clothed with the divine power of thought and endowed with faculties which make man a wonder to man. True, it is united with the body, and all that we know of it, is by physical manifestation and phenomena, but we deny that all the achievements of the intellect can be traced back to primary sensation; we deny that the soul has no native instincts and intuitive powers of perception and thought. He who said, first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear, also laid down the same law of germ development for the mind. It comes into the world with all potentialities of its subsequent attainments and grows as grows the oak tree and the flower, into an ever-increasing strength and beauty.

But the vital principle of the oak cannot be known apart from the tree, nor do we intend to ignore the mysterious intimacy which exists between the mind and the body. We will, therefore, briefly attend to the way in which the mind, the immaterial, immortal and divinely endowed spirit of man is related to his material organization.

Coming to the second head, the speaker quoted John Stuart Mill, who said that we may probably never know whether organization alone can produce life; but that mental operations have material conditions cannot be denied by any one who admits that the mind employs the brain as its material organ. But while it is unquestionably true that every portion of our physical frame exerts an influence upon the mind, and that the mind reciprocally affects every portion of the body, it is also true that the grand hemispherical ganglia called the brain, is the special organ of the mind. For the benefit of non professional hearers, the doctor gave an idea of the structure of this complex system. His description was very minute and interesting.

MEANING OF THE INTRICATE SYSTEM.

We are fairly entitled to inquire what is the meaning of this intricate system of nerve machinery.

Time will only admit of a general reply. The deep furrows by which the convolutions are formed are not observed in the lower orders of animals, and in none are they so marked as in man. Nor is this all, for it is found that their development is in proportion to the culture and intelligence of the individual. German and French anatomists (as shown in a recent work by Ecker on the Cerebral Convolutions) are devoting much attention to this subject at the present time and are endeavoring to localize brain functions upon a more scientific basis than that whereupon rests the pseudo-science of Phrenology. Farrier of London by an ingenious system of experiments upon animals, has reached some definite conclusions in this direction, but his plan of piercing certain localities of the brain with electric needles, it would seem must lack in accuracy; as, in the first place, the brain substance being a good conductor would divert the current to parts not sought to be reached, thus rendering the results inaccurate. Secondly the effects necessarily must be exhibited in large measure in certain movement or defects of movement, the mental manifestations being but imperfectly exhibited in dumb brutes. In some very recent experiments on the brains of monkeys reported in the British Medical Journal of August 1875, this year, the results have been more definite and were given briefly by the speaker.

It would be most interesting indeed to trace the relations which the various faculties of the intellect, the emotions and the will, sustain to particular portions of the brain, but these researches are still in their infancy. It is, however, agreed that the hemispherical ganglia—the brain—is the special organ of the mind; that the operations of the intellect as exhibited in cerebral activity, manifest themselves to our consciousness by means of the sensorium—the sensory ganglia—this center being also the recipient of all external sense impressions. Thus while it receives all impressions from without, it none the less takes cognizance of all the operations of the cerebrum itself by means of what Reil called "the nerve of the internal senses," so that the sensorial ganglia may be fairly considered the grand center of consciousness. It might be well to illustrate the modus operandi of the circuit thus indicated. For instance, an impression is received upon the optic disc—the eye. It is at once conveyed to the sensory ganglion, to which the optic nerve leads, and the mind's eye is made conscious of it as a sensation. It is then carried up to the cerebral cells, there being elaborated into an idea. If it is painful we experience an emotion, and if this results in a desire to remove the gaze from the object, it involves an act of volition. The actions that have occurred in the central cells are manifested again in the sensorium, and we are then conscious of the effect this impression upon the retina has made upon the mind.

MEMORY.

In reference to the immense multitude of cells and fibres described, and the uses to which they are put in the various operations of the mind, I will, in illustration, refer to but one of their faculties. It is however, composite in its nature, underlying and indeed forming the very foundation of the intellect—the scroll upon which is written in characters indelible, every thought, emotion, volition, experience and acquirement of the soul. It is that marvelous faculty without which history would be a blank—the memory.

Maudsley says "in every nerve cell there is memory," but he also recognizes a species of memory in every organic element of the body and instances not only all of the automatic movements which require memory in the nerve center, but refers to the unchanging character of a scar upon a child's hand which, as Mr. Paget has remarked, "grows as the body grows and evinces that the organic element of the part remembers the change which it has suffered." And so "in a brain that is not disorganized by injury or disease, the organic registrations are never actually forgotten, but endure while life lasts."

If this be true, then, the surmise of De Quincy might not be so far astray that "the opening of the Book at the Day of Judgment shall be the unfolding of the everlasting scroll of memory."

If, therefore, these myriads of fibres have as their function the transmission of every impression—whether from within or from without, each to its own individual call, there to remain on record ineffaceable—what wonder that their number is counted by millions? That each and every operation of the mind is elaborated within these marvellous little cells we may not doubt. Beyond this science cannot take us. The philosophy of vitalization is yet where it began. Hence, having described how the mind manifests itself in physical phenomena the speaker proceeded to the third and last phase of the subject.

RELATION OF MIND TO MEDICINE.

Dr. McClelland then discussed to the interest of his hearers the relation of the mind to medicine, referring to the inseparable union existing between the mind and body and the consequent variations from the normal standard suffered by both. The different forms of insanity, the causes thereof and the management of the insane as practiced to-day were dwelt upon at some length. He argued that if diseases of the physical organism induce or are accompanied by corresponding disturbances of the mental faculties, drugs which undoubtedly disturb bodily condition must show similar effects upon the mental. It could be shown, he said, that these effects produced by drugs exhibit an exact similarity to the effects we find in disease, both in body and mind. Now you can readily conceive that in order to produce these effects they must of necessity act upon the very parts diseased and in the manner of the disease action, else they could not produce similar symptoms. What a wonderful advantage does this give to the Homœopathist in obscure diseases, for every disease, however obscure, must have a language—symptoms—and as drugs make their effects known in the same manner, the one corresponding to the disease may thus be known.

But does it necessarily follow that although drugs do possess this power of inducing such striking resemblances to disease that they will cure them? Naturally it does. Every child in science knows that a force will neutralize a force similar to itself. We find it true in electric force, two negatives neutralize, and it is the same with the positives. And so in regard to the microscope, the rays of the sodium flame which are yellow are destroyed by passing them through a yellow medium. It is a law with all force—medicinal or otherwise. It is universal and medicine with this basis is raised to the dignity of a science.

Illustrations were given showing how drug action corresponds to disease action. Dr. McClelland ably discussed the homeopathic treatment at some length, but want of space prevents us following him. He demanded as simple justice that inmates of insane asylums shall have the privilege of the new school of practice if their friends desire it.

In closing the speaker said;

And now ladies and gentlemen I thank you for your kind attention. I have striven to depict the mind by slow degrees, awakening to a knowledge of itself through the ages, and to state as far as time permitted, the knowledge we possess of its relations to the body. Science year by year is opening up hidden veins of truth. How much we shall one day know of man, doth not yet appear, but this we do know that whatever progress be made in other directions, the grandest attainments of science remain for the student of man, in his highest nature. In view of what has been said, nay of what has not been said but is known is it not true that the achievements of the future in mental diseases will be in the direction of our beloved science, homeopathy.

THE EXPOSITION.

A Marked Improvement in the Attendance Yesterday—Arrival of Exhibitors from Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville and Indianapolis—Awards in the Floral Department—Remarks on Some of the Fine Displays, Etc., Etc.

The attendance yesterday and last evening was notably better than on any day since the opening. Although the heating apparatus has not been in operation yet the temperature in the building last evening was many degrees warmer than on the preceding night, and there were no complaints on the part of visitors on the score of chilliness. The large hot air furnace is nearly completed, the pipes are up, and this morning the fan will be put in motion, when a genial warmth will pervade the building, and visitors will find the place as pleasant as they could wish.

A number of exhibitors from Cincinnati, Chicago, Louisville and Indianapolis arrived with their goods yesterday, and were busily engaged last evening in arranging them. This morning will find these exhibitors occupying the space allotted to them with some of the finest displays in the building.

Messrs. B. A. Elliott & Co., and J. R. & A. Murdoch take the lead in this department, exhibiting some beautiful specimens. The collections of these firms reflect great credit on them.

FLORAL GEMS.

To the right of the main entrance the visitor will naturally stop and examine and admire the rare flowers which so profusely cover one of the stands of Messrs. J. R. & A. Murdoch. Language fails to describe the rare elegance of the flowers or the taste displayed in their arrangement. It is needless to add that at the competitive display yesterday afternoon, this firm carried off both first premiums on cut flowers, one for the finest display of cut roses and the other for the best display of cut flowers in variety.

These gentlemen make floral decorations a specialty.

NOTES.

The managers have engaged W. C. Smythe, Esq., to get up a series of excursions to the Exposition, from Cleveland Wheeling, Harrisburg, Monongahela City, Brownsville, New Castle, Oil City and other places.

On Saturdays children under fifteen will be admitted from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. for ten cents each.

A number of season tickets were found yesterday in the hands of others than those to whom they were issued. They were confiscated.

The balloon made a number of captive ascensions yesterday.

ELAINE.

On account of the dimness of the light last evening occasioned by the failure of the gas to illuminate the building, many exhibitors were compelled to resort to the use of Elaine, the family safeguard oil, the only fluid that the Board of Underwriters will allow to be burned in the building. The Elaine makes a brilliant and mellow light, and is entirely safe from explosions.

KEELLY OUTDONE.

Bailey, Farrell & Co. exhibit a hydro-pneumatic motor which throws the celebrated Keeley invention completely in the shade. It is driven by ordinary city pressure and is capable of registering 4,500 pounds of steam. It is a complicated piece of mechanism constructed of brass and comprised in a very small compass. It is one of the greatest curiosities in the building, and is constantly surrounded with visitors anxious to learn the principles of its construction and marvelous power. The same firm have a splendid display of brass castings and finished brass work in which is included a cup and saucer and spoon with a miniature cup and saucer on the spoon, all cast in one piece.

FLANNELS AND BLANKETS.

The fifth booth from the extreme end on the right hand side of the second floor is occupied by Rumberger, Gregg & Co., manufacturers of barred, plain and fancy flannels, blankets and woolen yarns, who make a fine exhibit. The goods displayed are fair samples of the extensive stock kept at their Wood street warehouse. They are all made from selected wool bought by the manufacturers in Washington, Armstrong, Butler and Clarion counties. The fine flannels are made from wool taken from full blooded merinos. The samples of Balmoral yarns are of a superior grade. Upon the whole the firm present an unequalled display of home manufactured articles in their line. Their factory at Craigsville, Armstrong county, turns out 25,000 yards of barred and plain flannels per month, and has the capacity for making 1,500 pairs of blankets. Our readers should make it a point to visit this booth, as they will be well repaid for the time that will be occupied in inspecting the bright and beautiful specimens there shown of the goods above enumerated.

THE STOVE DEPARTMENT

comprises a number of fine displays which reflect great credit upon our leading manufacturers in this line. We have already referred somewhat in detail to that of Bissell & Co., and there are others that merit especial mention. Among those is the great variety of heaters and the large assortment of stoves of all kinds exhibited by the firm of John B. Herron & Co. To do full justice to this collection would require more space than we have at our command this morning and we shall content ourselves with a few words concerning one or two of their specialties, reserving for another time a more extended notice. The Domestic Cabinet portable range, which is manufactured exclusively by this firm, is the most compact, simple and convenient range we have ever examined. It was introduced about a year ago, and has had quite an extensive run ever since. It has been thoroughly tested by hundreds of housekeepers who are unanimous in its praise. The "Success" cooking stove is everything that its name indicates. It is a strictly first-class stove, in the manufacture of which the best castings and mountings in the market alone are used. The "Idaho" and "Rival" are two others of which we need but mention as their names are familiar to housekeepers here and in the surrounding country.

MITCHELL, STEVENSON & CO.

have the largest collection of stoves on exhibition, and several of their specialties are attracting the attention of all visitors interested in this department of the exposition. The leading one of these is the "Revolution," a soft coal, base burner and self feeder, which is admirably adapted to our bituminous coal region. The proprietors expect it to receive the first premium, and if they are as successful here as they have been wherever it has been exhibited, it certainly will. The following is a list of the awards it has received: St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, 1872, 73 and 74 first premium and gold medal; Indiana State Fair, 1872, first premium and diploma, Indianapolis Industrial Exposition, 1873 and 74, first premium and gold medal; Ohio State Board, 1872, 73 and 74, first premium and diploma; Iowa State Agricultural Society, first premium and diploma; Illinois State Fair, at Ottawa, 1872, and Peoria, 1873, first premium and diploma; Northern Ohio Fair, 1872 and 73, first premium and diploma; Kansas, Topeka, 1873, first premium and diploma. The same firm present the "Oxford," a new open front parlor stove with Larkins' patent agitating grate, which is a very neat arrangement. Other specialties exhibited will be noticed hereafter.

A SPECIMEN OF ROOFING.

Messrs. Mills & Co., manufacturers of and dealers in cement, lime, plaster, cement roofs, pavements, &c., exhibit a miniature house roofed by a new patent process that cannot fail to secure a large share of attention. This roof is composed of one part hydraulic cement, and two parts sharp coarse sand, laid in a plastic state on water-proof paper which prevents the sheeting from drawing on account of the moisture in the mortar. The metallic fluting, composed of copper, tin or zinc, is placed at proper intervals on the paper, which allows for contraction and expansion. The fastenings are small nails, driven through the paper, and into the sheeting, leaving their heads exposed about half an inch. The cement goes round and over the head covering the nails, making a complete fastening. The mortar goes down solid, filling every depression in the sheeting, making a permanent and durable roof, weighing seven pounds to the square foot, that you can walk over without breaking like slate, will not need painting like tin, will not rust like iron, will not rot like wood, that is entirely fire, water and wind proof, and just what is desired by architects and builders.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARIES.

Second Day's Session of the Convention—Election of Officers, Etc.

The second day's session of the Pennsylvania Christian Missionary Convention began at nine o'clock yesterday morning, in the First Christian Church, corner of Arch street and Montgomery avenue.

The annual report of the Board was submitted and read by Elder M. L. Streator, State Evangelist and Corresponding Secretary.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After the usual opening exercises, O. A. Bartholemew, Chairman of the Committee on the Future Work of the State, submitted the following recommendations:

That we continue our State work and employ a State Evangelist.

That we call for pledges in this Convention to provide for the State Evangelist's support.

That we untertake to raise a "Centennial Fund," averaging at least one dollar per member, for missions to be under the direction of the State Board.

That the Missionary Board of the State be instructed to re-establish and sustain either the Pittsburgh or Erie Mission, or both, or else co-operate with the brethren in Philadelphia in sustaining missionary work in and around the city, just as soon as sufficient money can be secured to justify the commencement of such work.

That we labor to effect a general revival all over the State, both in converting the world and in strengthening the weak organizations; and that to this end we ask the ministry of every county to meet at an early day and arrange for meetings in every available place by their home forces, besides what may be done by the State Evangelist.

Each of these articles were discussed at length, bringing out the sentiment of the delegates present on the various topics suggested. The "Centennial Fund" proposition was warmly indorsed, so much so indeed that before the matter was finally dropped no less than three hundred dollars were subscribed by the few who were present at that hour.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Committee on Nominations submitted the following as the Executive Board:

President, Joseph King, Allegheny; Vice President, James Darsie, Braddocks; Corresponding Secretary, Martin L. Streator, New Castle; Treasurer, Joel S. Goe, Allegheny; Recording Secretary, D. M. Kinter, Lock Haven; O. A. Bartholomew, Hazlewood; John McElroy, Washington; H. B. Goe, Allegheny; S. R. Williams, Allegheny; C. C. Forte, Philadelphia; James Chatham, Lock Haven; Dr. D. W. Evans, Ebensburg; B. S. Dean, East Smithfield.

Delegates to the General Convention to be held in Louisville, Kentucky: M. L. Streator, James Darsie, George H. Anderson and W. L. Hayden.

Philadelphia was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting, providing it will be agreeable to the church at that place. If not, the State Secretary should select the place and time.

TO-DAY.

To-day will be devoted to the Sunday school work. Rev. Frank M. Green, Secretary of the Ohio State Sunday School Association, is present, and will conduct the institute work. He is one of the ablest workers in this particular field in the State. The forenoon will be devoted to a general discussion of the vital topics connected with the work. A model school will be the leading feature of the afternoon, while the evening will be devoted to a jubilee. All Sunday School workers in the city are invited to attend and participate in these exercises.

BASE BALL.

The game announced for the 14th inst. between the Oil City and Braddock Base Ball Clubs will positively take place on the latter's grounds at Braddock's Field this afternoon at half-past two o'clock, all previous announcements to the contrary. Judging from the result of Tuesday's game a good one may be expected in this instance.

In the game at Union Park, yesterday, between the Standards, of Wheeling, and the Xanthas, the Allegheny boys defeated their competitors by a score of 28 to 3.

The Xanthas will hie themselves to Meadville next Tuesday to play the Mutuals of that place, and one day next week, not definitely announced, will play the third game of the series with the Braddocks, which, we are informed, will close the season.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

ALLEGHENY COUNCILS meet this evening.

WM. D. FORTEN, Esq., of Philadelphia, the eloquent colored orator, will speak at the Allegheny Republican meeting this evening.

DR. DEHAAS, United States Consul to Jerusalem, will lecture this evening at the Butler Street Methodist Episcopal Church, subject: "Egypt and the Holy Land."

THE Monthly Elevator, for October, is a very readable number. The opening article is a sketch of Rev. Samuel A. Crowther, D.D., Bishop of the Niger, in Africa.

EDWARD LEDGERD and wife yesterday entered suit for damages, in the Common Pleas No. 2, against Joseph Mott and William Dorsey. The damages claimed resulted from an alleged libel of and concerning the said wife, Mary Ledgerd.

THE anti-stock yard citizens of the Second ward, Allegheny, called on Mayor Phillips, yesterday morning, and asked that the ordinance for the removal of the nuisance, as they term it, be enforced. The Mayor suggested a conference between the counsel of the citizens and the City Solicitor.

ALLEGHENY THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The Semi-Centennial To-Day—Historical Sketch of the Institution—The Programme of Exercises, Etc.

The Theological Seminary of the United Presbyterian Church, in Allegheny city, is one of the most important educational institutions, connected with that body, in the United States. It is now fifty years since the seminary was started, and to-day the alumni, professors, and other friends propose to celebrate the event with appropriate exercises. The Seminary was originally established by the Associate Reformed Synod of the West, in the year 1825. The first Professor was the Rev. Joseph Kerr, D. D., then pastor of the St. Clair congregation, but after four years of faithful service this excellent man was removed by death. The Rev. Mingo Dick discharged the duties during the two years following, and on the 10th of October, 1831, the Rev. John T. Pressly, D.D., took charge, and continued to serve with great acceptance until his death, which occurred a few years ago. In 1843 Synod established three professorships—Theology, Biblical Literature and Criticism, and Ecclesiastical History and Church Government. Rev. James L. Dinwiddie, D.D., was appointed the same year to the chair of Biblical Literature and Criticism, while the duties connected with the other two departments were discharged by Dr. Pressly. Dr. Dinwiddie had not served his third term until he was disqualified by sickness from rendering any further service to the church. The senior Professor discharged all the duties of the institution until the meeting of Synod in 1847, at which time Rev. Alexander D. Clark, D.D., President of Franklin College, New Athens, Ohio, was elected Professor of Biblical Literature and Criticism, and entered upon the discharge of his duties in 1848. In 1851 the Rev. David R. Kerr, D.D., was chosen to the Professorship of Ecclesiastical History and Church Government, the duties of which he has ever since discharged with marked ability. The first students were instructed in the basement of the First Associated Reformed church, of which Dr. Pressly was pastor. Through the liberality of Mr. Thomas H. Hanna, a ruling elder of that church, the present capacious edifice was erected. This large-hearted man has long since gone to his reward, but the memory of his good deeds is still fresh in the hearts of thousands.

On the union between the Associate and Associate Reformed churches, in 1858, which gave rise to the United Presbyterian church, the Seminary was placed under the joint care of the First United Presbyterian Synod, the Synod of Pittsburgh and the Synod of Ohio.

Some months since, Rev. J. T. Cooper, D. D., was called to the chair of Theology, which he still continues to fill.

THE EXERCISES TO-DAY.

The semi-centennial exercises will be held in the First United Presbyterian church, and an entertainment will be provided by the ladies of the different congregations of the two cities. The order of exercises will be as follows:

10:30 A. M.—Chairman, Rev. J. T. McClure, D.D. Congratulations by the Chairman. Addresses: "Theological Seminaries: Their Place and Importance as part of the Working Power of the Church," by Rev. J. B. Dales, D.D., and "The Origin and History of this Seminary," by Rev. John G. Brown, D.D.

2 P. M.—Chairman, Rev. W. Collins, D. D.—Addresses: "The Theological Education for the Times, the Elements of it and the best modes of Imparting it," by Rev. David Paul, D. D.; Rev. A. A. Hodge, D. D., and Rev. James R. W. Sloane, D. D. "The Heart Culture required as a Qualification for the Sacred Ministry," by Rev. G. W. Moorehead; "The Fathers of Our Church," by Rev. W. J. Reid, D. D.; "Our Deceased Professors," by Rev. B. Waddle, D. D., Rev. W. A. Mebard, D. D., and Rev. Alexander Young, D. D.

7:30 P. M.—Chairman, Rev. H. H. Harvey. Address: "The Seminary whose Semi-Centennial we Celebrate; What it has done, and what we should do for it," by Rev. E. T. Jeffers, D. D., to be followed by informal addresses.

OBITUARY.

DEATH OF WM. H. BROWN, THE "COAL KING."

Mr. William H. Brown, the great coal operator of this city, died Tuesday evening in Philadelphia. This announcement will be read with sorrow by the many friends of the deceased, not only in this community but all along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to the Gulf of Mexico, Mr. Brown having for many years had intimate business connections with perhaps more people in the West and Southwest, and in this community, than any other citizen here, living or dead. The deceased was, we believe, the first among our citizens to engage extensively in the coal business on the Western rivers, and to his remarkable sagacity and great energy are we indebted in a large measure for the gigantic proportions to which that great industry has grown.

Mr. Brown was born in Westmoreland county in 1806, and was in his seventieth year. In his early youth he was a driver on the old Portage Canal, where, by industry and strict economy, he accumulated a small sum of money, and removed to this city, where he engaged in the business of hauling coal. He continued to prosper, and in a brief time entered into a partnership with W. A. Herron & Co., in bringing coal to the city in flats. Retiring from this firm, he subsequently became connected with Messrs. Lloyd & Black, who then supplied passenger and other steamboats with coal, and finally bought the interest of his partners and continued the business himself. From that time forward he made the coal business a specialty, and during the years that have intervened he has accumulated large tracts of coal lands, fully equipped works and railways, a large number of steamboats and innumerable boats, barges, model barges and other species of craft used in transporting coal to the lower ports. In addition to his coal business, however, he was extensively engaged in other enterprises, including rolling mills, coke furnaces, blast furnaces, and a variety of other manufacturing establishments. Indeed, so extensive were the enterprises in which he was engaged, that at one time (during the late war) he gave employment to more than six thousand men.

Some two years ago Mr. Brown's health began to fail, when he relinquished business to a great extent and made a tour through the far West for recreation. He returned home but little improved, and last winter his mind became impaired, and he went to Kirkbride's Hospital in Philadelphia for treatment. A few days since he was stricken with paralysis, and death ensued as stated. The deceased leaves three sons and two daugters, his wife having died several years since. The remains will be brought to the family residence at Brown's station, on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad, from whence the funeral will take place.

REV. J. S. STUCHELL.

This greatly esteemed divine, pastor of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church, departed this life Tuesday evening at his late residence in the Twenty-third ward. The deceased was taken ill last Monday week, and the disease rapidly developed into a case of most malignant diphtheria, which despite the assiduous attentions of Drs. King and Evans, terminated fatally last night. The deceased was elected pastor of the church at the time of its organization, some five years since, and his upright Christian conduct, and his thorough consecration to the great work, endeared him, not only to the members of his own church, but to all others with whom he became acquainted. His death was quite unexpected, and will cause deep sorrow in the community. The deceased was formerly pastor of congregations in Baltimore, Elizabeth and Monongahela City. The remains will be interred at Elizabeth.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

This evening, and during the rest of the week, Mr. James Lewis, the eccentric comedian, whose characteristic dramatic creations have won the unanimous praise of both press and public during the past five years in New York, will appear as Bob Sackett in Bronson Howard's society comedy of "Saratoga." Mr. Lewis was the original Sackett when the play was produced at Daly's Fifth Avenue Theater, where it enjoyed a run of over two hundred consecutive nights, and was indorsed by the New York critics as being the most complete and humorous American comedy yet offered by the many aspiring dramatists. Mr. Lewis will be supported by the leading members of the Opera House Company, and all the scenery and stage appointments are promised to be first class. We look for an enjoyable performance in the witnessing of Bob Sackett.

Academy of Music.

"Around the World in Eighty Days," with its fine scenery and appointments, still holds the stage at the Academy. It now passes off smoothly and to the entire satisfaction of the audiences, which continue to be large.

Fifth Avenue Comedy Theater.

Frank Jones, with his sensational drama of "Black Hand," continues to be the attraction at the Comedy Theater. There is in addition an enjoyable variety performance.

Complimentary Benefit.

The friends of Mr. George M. Wallace, Manager of the Academy of Music, will give him a benefit at that theater on the 23d inst. Mr. Wallace is a hard worker, and endeavors to present attractions in good style, even if injunctions are occasionally issued against him. A fine entertainment will be given on the occasion of the benefit.

The Juvenile Opera.

The sale of seats for the engagement of the Juvenile Opera Troupe at Library Hall, next week, will begin this morning at Hale's music store, 103 Smithfield street.

Frohsinn Concert.

A fine concert was given last evening at Frohsinn Hall, Sixth avenue, by members of that talented organization, the Frohsinn Society, which has done so much to elevate and satisfy musical taste in this city. It was introductory of Mr. Carl Beitz, formerly first tenor of the Lichtmay German Opera Company, who is spending a few weeks in Pittsburgh. This gentleman carried the weight of a programme full of difficult and enjoyable selections, and gained an immediate and enthusiastic success. He sang arias from "Trovatore" and "The Magic Flute," and assisted in several duets and trios from operas. His voice is well trained, powerful and sweet, and should he consent to remain in the city, it is evident he will be a great acquisition. He was assisted by Mrs. Benswanger, a soprano of refined abilities, Madame Loheyde, Messrs. Boehme, Bussman, Sylla, Knoepp and others. Mr. Lohman was the director, and Mr. Carl Retter presided at the piano.

Trimble's Varieties Theater.

The strong attractions presented by Manager Aims this week are greeted nightly by large and delighted audiences. The bill for to-night is an excellent one, and we advise everybody to go to Trimble's. Matinee Saturday.
